

A note from Pastor Owen Scott...

I am learning that a most productive way to pray is to ask God to give me His wisdom for the day, so that I might remember to do all the “important matters” in accordance with His infinite wisdom instead of my own human cunning engineering. Not that everything I will do then will be perfect, but it does mean that if I keep in the light as He is in the light, I need not do any unwise thing that I will regret. Oswald Chambers used to say, “Trust God and do the next thing”. It is easy to fall out of contact with God throughout the activities of the day. So for this reason it is good to mentally pause and lift our hearts before the Lord and proclaim softly, “Thank You Jesus...Praise You Lord...I love You Heavenly Father...Guide me this day or Be Thou my wisdom”. We will never miss the “next thing” when we consciously check in with the Holy Spirit throughout the day. This is such a beautiful way to live. I highly recommend it!
